Burning tobacco beds all the go.

Mrs. Owen Allison is very ill at this writing.

Less, you and Floyd should always take a lantern when you start out, so as to find your way home without trouble.

Mr. Jim Moore has built him a new kitchen.

Mr. Thomas R. Moore has been resurrected from the dead, and all the change that has been made he has got a new fashioned pair of leggings, made to fasten on the inside.

Lizzie says she likes Less, and Julia says she likes Moore, and Liza says she likes Less and Moore both.

Mr. Floyd Phillips says that he don't like cats but he likes Kittys more than anything.

Less, if Vick should forsake you, there is another girl down at Mr. Nute Shackelford's.

Mr. Luda Chism called on Miss Bertie Lee on Sunday evening.

Mrs. Mattie Allison, who has been very ill, is better at this writing.

Mr. John Lee and wife called on Mr. J. W. Allison and wife Saturday and Sunday.

Guess young Dr. Moore has started out practicing, as he was seen riding through Bald Knob Sunday. Says he has all the riding he can do.

Miss Lizzie and Annie Allison were the guests of Miss Lula Pulliam on Sunday last.

Mr. George Beckley and wife called on Mr. Joe Allison and wife on Sunday last.

Mr. Willie Chism, in aiming to meet his girl Sunday, took the wrong road. He went one way and she went the other.

We all sympathize with you, Ira, as Miss Ida has left you and gone to Lexington.

Miss Venie Allison, in aiming to wade the pond, on Mike Branch, lost her rubbers.

The party at Mr. Lee Cook's, on Wednesday night, was a grand success. Mr. Willie Chism accompanied Miss Belle Pulliam to the party, and Mr. Winfred Vardiman accompanied her back home.

Mr. W. H. Allison says that he thinks his Tilden hat will last another year yet.

Minnie you had better look out or Sissie will beat your time.

SWEETEST OF SWEET.

Benson Valley.

Great activity in visiting in this locality this week.

Miss Frances Hearn opened her school at Choateville last Monday. Miss Fanny is an excellent teacher. We wish her success.

Mrs. George Mitchell and children visited Mrs. Thos. Hulett, Monday of this week.

Misses Lula Moore and Sarah Sudduth spent Monday night at Mr. Bain Moore's, the Stone Mansion.

Mr. Sylvester Sudduth is having some new improvements put up. We believe he is going to have a new house made out of the old one. Hurrah for the old-gent in his old age.

Mrs. Lee Moore says she is going into the hotel business in the future. We think her wise in doing so, as the people who visited her home Sunday numbered no less than eighteen. Success to you.

Mrs. Dora Sudduth and children spent Monday with her sister, Mrs. Bain Moore.

We were very much pleased to know that Mr. Luke Moore is still living, and enjoying good health. To be sure, it is nobody's business as to who he likes best. But I will assure you that if Luke likes the Bridgeport girls any better than he does the Benson girls, I know he certainly is heels over head in love with them.

If the reports be true, there is going to be another wedding on the Ridge. But I'll tell you right now tain't me.

Mr. Tom Webster, wife and little daughter, spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. Lee Moore and wife.

To the Lily of the Pike:

DEAR MISS—In answer to your last week's letter, I judge from the way it ran, that my last letter has taken an effect to some extent. I guess this letter will give you quite an epidemic of fever and probably leave you stone blind. Still I presume to write. Now, dear, don't take things so near to heart. Sure I ought to have known that the dogs belonged to your brothers; but, knowing the twelve hounds to be there, and after my friend informed me who lived at the place, of course I could think of nothing else at the time, but what the dogs were yours. Now, as they belong to your brothers, you would be likely to have some influence over them. So I don't think I made a very bad mistake after all. Very glad indeed to know that you have moved to another place. Hope your dogs (or your brothers' dogs) will have more range, for I know it was bad to be so imprisoned as they were when I saw them last. Say, wish you would bring your dogs over for a few days' hunt in the Valley. We expect to raise a large crop of fowls this year. Would like to have the foxes run away. Well this is all at the present. Yours truly.

We notice in the papers that the county court has given to the Lee's Ferry Pike an iron bridge, also to the Flat Creek Pike an iron bridge. Now we think it would be in order to rebuild the old Ganey bridge or give us a common dirt road down the valley of Benson to a safer crossing. LILY OF THE VALLEY.

"Give me a liver regulator and I can regulate the world," said a genius. The druggist handed him a bottle of DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. Tyler & Hemphill and W. McKee Hardie.

Forks of Elkhorn.

Rev. J. K. P. South preached here last Sunday night.

Miss Emma Jones, of Stamping Ground, spent several days of last week with Miss Daisy Hockensmith.

Misses Emma Jones, Daisy Hockensmith and Wilhanna Stearnan spent Friday last, March 17th, with Mrs. Jake Harper, at her home in Frankfort.

Mr. J. W. Alley and wife have been visiting Miss Mary Holton.

Miss Nellie Hockensmith is visiting relatives here.

Miss Annie South spent the latter part of last week with Miss Mary Gallehue.

Miss Pattie B. South spent from last Friday until Monday with her cousin, Miss Elizabeth Bowen.

Madam Rumor whispers there will be two weddings before the autumn leaves fall.

The King's Daughters met at the schoolhouse Wednesday, March 22d. DAUGHTER OF ELKHORN.
